Age specific and gender specific product fit and construction for apparel, footwear and equipment.

Ergonom -X construction provides optimum comfort and ease of movement for the athlete.

X-Lite fabrics are constructed with micro denier polyester yarns that give the product the light and super soft feel that players expect for peak performance.

Products are manufactured with coated fabrics and seam sealed to keep the athlete dry in extreme playing conditions.

Dri-X is a microfiber (polyester) base fabric that transfers sweat away from the body so that the moisture evaporates faster keeping the player comfortable in training and match conditions.

Both knitted and woven base fabrications used to build apparel that keeps the player dry and comfortable in moderate conditions.

COOLMAX fabrications allow sweat to evaporate quickly so the athlete is kept dry. The fibers resist fading, shrinking and wrinkling.

Products engineered with fabrications and cut lines designed to work with the body in motion. Products both regulate temperature and move with the body.
